

Where the twain meet again
New results of the Dutch-Russian project on regional development
1780 – 1917

Where the twain meet again
New results of the Dutch Russian project on regional development 1780 – 1917

Pim Kooij and Richard Paping (eds.)

Nederlands Agronomisch Historisch Instituut
Groningen/Wageningen 2004

Historia Agriculturae 34

Published by / uitgegeven door

Nederlands Agronomisch Historisch Instituut

Oude Kijk in 't Jatstraat 26, 9712 EK Groningen
Hollandseweg 1, 6706 KN Wageningen

Internet: <http://odur.let.rug.nl/~nahi>

E-mail: nahi@let.rug.nl

Research for this publication has been made possible by a grant from the Netherlands
Organization for Scientific Research NWO

ISBN 90-367-2016-8

Omslagontwerp en vormgevingsadviezen: Edward Houting BNO

Productie: Aicha el Makoui / NAHI Wageningen

Druk: Grafisch Centrum RUG

Table of contents

Introduction Pim Kooij and Richard Paping	1
Theme 1 Demographic behaviour
1. Demographic behaviour in the Yaroslavl loamy area. The results of cohort analysis for two typical rural parishes Irina Shustrova and Elena Sinitsyna	7
2. Characteristics of households in the eastern part of North Brabant 1810–1920 Gerard Trienekens	25
3. A comparison of cohort analysis and other methods of demographic microanalysis used in studying the Tambov region Marina Akolzina, Vladimir Dyatchkov, Valery Kanitshev, Roman Kontchakov, Yuri Mizis and Ella Morozova	45
4. Marriage behaviour in pre-industrial Karelian rural parishes Irina Cherniakova	91
5. Conjugalities in the Olonets province in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Some inferences drawn from information taken from the registers of births, deaths and marriages Serguei Kachtchenko and Svetlana Smirnova	131
6. Age at first marriage in eighteenth and nineteenth-century Russia and the Netherlands: tradition or economic and social circumstances? Geurt Collenteur and Richard Paping	147
7. Consistency in matters of life and death? Discriminating demographic patterns in Groningen, 1850–1920 Geurt Collenteur	169

Theme 2 From demography to society

8. Demographic development in the context of integral history Pim Kooij	191
9. Tambov regional development in the context of integral history, 1800-1917. Contradictions in the modernization of Russian society on a basis of micro-history Vladimir Dyatchkov and Valery Kanitshev	199
10. Social networks and the elite in North Brabant and Groningen, 1780-1910 Maarten Duijvendak	225
11. The development of the family structure in the Tambov region, 1800-1917 Valery Kanitshev, Roman Kontchakov, Yuri Mizis and Ella Morozova	239
12. Demographic behaviour of landowning farmers in eighteenth- century Zeeland – Piet van Cruyningen	263
13. Family strategies, wage labour and the family life cycle in the Groningen country side, c. 1850-1910 Richard Paping.	271
Epilogue Vitaly Afiani	293
Historia Agriculturae	297